

The Crescent City Jewish News is the Voice of New Orleans' Jewish Community. The CCJN provides continuous coverage of news that informs, supports and promotes the Jewish community of Greater New Orleans as well as throughout the United States, Israel and the world.

The CCJN has been a decade-long member of the American Jewish Press Association, the oldest professional organization for Jewish journalists. Our editor, Alan Smason, is the current president of the AJPA. Over the past 11 years, the CCJN has become a noted repository for all current and archived news. The CCJN has won the Press Club of New Orleans "best in show" for its first place Breaking News awards in 2018 and 2019. It was also cited for the Best Editorial and another "best in show" award in 2019. The website boasts approximately 81,000 annual visitors in the one-year period from June 20, 2020-June 19, 2021. The CCJN has built a successful following of our weekly email news roundup with an impressive 46% open rate, more than 10% above the industry standard. With the goal of reaching our audience where they are, daily posts can be found on Facebook and Twitter with articles leading our readers directly back to our website.

Advertising opportunities are available in our weekly email newsletter and on our website www.CrescentCityJewishNews.com.
